OVERVIEW

Bulletproof is looking for a Business Intelligence Analyst to join the team. In this role you will work closely with the CEO and senior leadership team to deliver metrics and dashboards that can be used to track the performance of the business. We are looking for someone with experience using Power BI and has a good understand of CRM systems, financial tools and business processes.

In this role you will get to work with some of the most talented and experienced security experts, and a team of up and coming security rock stars, based at our Stevenage HQ.

For this role, we are looking for someone that can work closely with senior leadership to help understand key metrics and have the technical knowledge to set-up and configure key tools to track business and team performance. The role will also look to provide a dynamic company-wide view of business success.

We would like this person to be comfortable working with senior leadership, building POC dashboards, understand how to manage and integrate with key business tools as well as being comfortable presenting key data back to the business leaders. We would like this person to take initiative on creating new and interesting statistics from our data, supporting research and testing new products.

You should apply if you enjoy working in a fast-paced, innovative business, on a broad set of data types with multiple business units across the company and enjoy solving challenges. We are designing our business to handle rapid scale through efficient, automated, modern business processes.

This is an opportunity to be part of an exciting and fast-growing security company who has engineered its own innovative products from the ground up. We want to bring someone into the team that shares our vision to use technology, and most importantly talented people, to help our teams work at pace so we can focus on solving our customers security challenges and use innovation to disrupt the cyber security space.
